Issue 55

December 2010

The first of our winter midweek lunch meetings was to The Longbridge Mill at Sherfield On Lodden. Just a small gathering on a very cold day with the weather threatening snow.

A reduced Quiz Team went to the Chiltern Section's Quiz as two of our best brains were unable to attend. It was a foul night to travel to Chesham, but with some assistance from two of our section who were attending we came a very creditable second, losing by only 1 mark.

The Christmas Dinner was held at The Lands End Inn, Charvil near Twyford. The service at this tenanted pub is far better than some of the managed pubs that we have used in the past. There was no rush to get the courses out and we were allowed a nice break between to chat to the others. A very nice time was had by all.

The last meeting of the year was our family night, A good crowd attended even though it was so close after Christmas. We had a varied collection of nibbles to keep us going between the games of feeling the grope bags. Doug brought his accordion and a selection of Christmas song sheets which stirred everyone into action even if they couldn't sing
